MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT:

Dear Madam President-Elect:

Congratulations on your election victory.

I write to you regarding this mysterious proposal for a "co-venture" on a "video game" intercepted by the FBI.

The Agency believes this was intended for a cadre of Bay Area dimwits in cahoots with a "Rising Sun" protectorate in South Asia.

You may think I am tilting at windmills, but consider the advertising copy of Shinjuro Miyazaki's previous abomination SUPERBO SERGIO:

- Sergio consumes "mushrooms" to "grow" - a physical twist on claims of "psychic growth" through Psilocybin mushrooms, thoroughly debunked (the Agency would know)
- Sergio is an "Italian Rail Technician" dressed in drab coveralls - a Mussolini poster-boy proletariat who helps "keep the trains running on time"
- Sergio's arch-nemesis "Balcon" - short for "Blue Falcon", an American military euphemism for "Buddy Fucker": someone who sabotages the team for personal gain.

Do you see how the dots connect, Madam President-Elect?

This "video game" is nothing more than a rancid stew of anti-American ideology, nothing less than a full-throated campaign to corrupt the minds of American youth.

In your victory speech, you said "the soft glow of peace will always shine brighter than the torches of war." You rightly claimed "it is in the nature of Americans, when gazing beyond their shores, to see the glow in others."

The Agency sees nothing but torches. They burn brightest at night, as Americans sleep soundly, lighting the darkness as our adversaries seek the promised land to set ablaze.

This proposal glows at our gates - which is precisely why you must accept it, even if it brands you the first Buddy Fucker President in U.S. history.

Let them believe their God lit the way. Their zealotry will fan the flames, blind them to the truth: I lit the match. And when they arrive at the gates of Hell, I will be there to welcome them home.
